THE NEW ADDITION--to Lincoln-Way high school is taking shape but it will be months yet before the building will be ready for occupancy. Growth of the enrollment makes administrators hope there will be no delays as the extra room is needed as soon as possible. (Marvin Smith photo)

Something To Remember For Hanna—First Date In America

It was my first weekend in America, and my first date. We went to see "Porgy and Bess" in Chicago. I felt so happy, about all things around me, the great music, the colored people in the theater, I was seeing for the first time, the cool air. I had expected all this, but I had never thought that I would see and feel it really.

And then after the film, I was standing on the "Prudential" and under me nothing else as Chicago. Chicago at night. I felt so high about all things, so happy, and so sad and lost at the same moment. I did not know why. I saw the lights on the cars at my left, the wide avenue along the water, the skyscrapers, all these fascinating buildings, the cars rolling along the streets in three rows, and lights, lights, so far as I could see.

I had read about all this before, and I had dreamed of it, and now I was here. And the only sentence I could think was: "I am in America, really in America". And felt lonesome, because I did not belong to it, I felt lost, because I spoke another language, and I felt sad, because of all these grandiose things, this beautiful view, which I know, I would from now on miss all my life, when I will be at home again.

That was America, the character of America. And I thought, I felt this deep and maybe, I will never again feel it like this.

(Editor's note: The above comments were written by Hanna Heymann, German student attending Lincoln-Way high school. New Lenox. Miss Heymann is a senior student there under the sponsorship of the American Field Service. We believe her statements are self explanatory.)

Sandburg School Board Adopts $929,081 Budget

The Carl Sandburg high school board has adopted the 1959-60 budget providing for expenditures totaling $929,081.

Board President W. R. Blew went over the important details of what he termed a "businessman's budget." Blew declared that this budget will make wise use of the taxpayer's money.

Although actual expenditures are usually less than the budgeted amounts, the 1959-60 budget has not been padded and encourages careful management, it was pointed out.

A comparison of actual expenditures in 1958-59 against the budget figures for the current year shows an increase from $866,827.51 to $929,081.25. A breakdown of these total figures shows an increase in the educational fund from $573,627.29 to $663,200.00, but a decrease in the building fund from $117,496.44 to $80,900.00. The transportation figure moved from $37,829.93 to $41,550.00 and the bond and interest total from $137,873.85 to $143,481.25.

In the carefully prepared budget it was noted that the teacher/student ratio is now one to 20 based on an enrollment of 1,240 with 62 staff members.

Other action taken by the board included the approval for the attorney to proceed with advertising of a bond sale on Oct. 12 in the amount of $310,000 in accordance with a decision made at the last meeting. These bonds were approved in the December 1958 referendum.

Further committee study was approved regarding the re-assessment survey. This survey will be a study of the assessments in Palos and Orland townships to determine what property is not on the tax rolls. It is estimated that improved property of approximately $4 million in assessed valuation is not on the tax books at this time.

The survey is an attempt to locate such property and call it to the attention of the Cook county assessor. Spot checks have revealed numerous sites improved with homes, built several years ago, that are still listed on the assessment rolls as vacant property. The omission of such improved property has resulted in an inequitable burden on the home owning taxpayer, it was declared.

The board of education decided to approve in principal a request from the Fourth Church of Christ, Scientist, to use the Carl Sandburg high school building, but referred the matter to a committee to make a detailed study of the matter and report back at a subsequent meeting.

We Go Modern! Change Format And Processes

This is the first issue in the new format for the Semmler Press and we hope you like it.

We believe it will please our readers. The type is sharper and there is more "light" or "air"--as white space is sometimes referred to in the trade--in a page.

The page also is narrower and conforms to the size adopted by most of the modern newspapers. We believe you will find this more convenient in turning the pages and holding the paper for reading than the wider size formerly used.

The methods used in preparing material and the printing itself are the latest available in the newspaper field. This applies to pictures as well as printed matter and gives us greater flexibility, which will be to the advantage of the reader as well as the advertiser.

With our new methods and equipment we also will be able to use color, a feature that is growing in popularity and demand and one which must be met by the newspapers of today.

We are striving to give you a better paper and improve the mechanical and processing departments to meet the future growth of the area.

LINCOLN-WAY FOOTBALL SQUAD WILL STAGE BROOM SALE TONIGHT TO BUY ELECTRIC SCOREBOARD FOR FIELD

Lincoln-Way high school football field will be equipped with an electric score board in time for the Homecoming game Saturday afternoon with Sandburg--if the efforts of the Lincoln football squad are successful tonight.

The school has selected a score board. The only thing necessary now is the money to pay for it and the Knights expect to raise that tonight in a door to door sale of brooms thruout the high school district.

Two thousand brooms have been ordered and the grid members--their enthusiasm kindled by the 20-13 triumph they scored over Rich, champions of the Southwest Conference last Saturday--plan to sell them tonight.

The scoreboard will cost $1,500 and the team believes it can raise that amount tonight.

Tonight's venture really has a two-fold purpose. The football squad will not only get money for the score board but at the same time will aid the blind persons who made the brooms.

Alumni and fathers are behind the program and will aid in the broom sale tonight.

The broom squads will cover the entire district, Manhattan, New Lenox, Frankfort, Mokena and the country area.

Lincoln-Way expects the largest crowd in its football history for Saturday's game with the Eagles of Sandburg as a result of its startling upset over Rich.

Monday morning a huge pep rally gave the Lincoln-Way students an opportunity to vent some of their feelings but there is still a lot of zip that will be in evidence at the Homecoming contest.

BULLETIN

Mokena is to have a new post office according to a telegram received at Semmler Press from Congressman Noah Mason late Wednesday afternoon.

According to Mason, the post office department is advertising for competitive bids for construction of a 2400 sq. ft. building on property which they have an assignable option on located on the north side of Front St. between Wolf Road and Mokena St. The successful bidder will rent the building to the post office department on a long term lease basis.

Bids will be received between Oct. 15 and Jan. 8 and additional information may be obtained by writing Mr. S. A. Van Patten P. O. Dept., Chicago, Illinois.

BROOMS WILL SWEEP--a new electric scoreboard onto the Lincoln-Way high school football field if the football squad can just sell enough of them in a door-to-door sales campaign thruout the district tonight. You see Saturday is Homecoming at Lincoln-Way and the largest crowd in the school's history is expected for the game with Sandburg Saturday afternoon. Lincoln-Way's football stock is soaring now as a result of the Knights victory over Rich last week. One of the big contributors to L-W's win was the young man shown here studying a picture of the scoreboard with the school superintendent, A. Hunter Chapman. The young man is Howard Mann, of New Lenox, a senior and a good backfield man. If he continues to run as he did against Rich he should put a lot of points on the scoreboard for which the team is striving. (Marvin Smith photo)

Worker Suffers Injury

A Chicago man, Paul Nawrocki, 40, 3507 W. 62nd st., was injured Monday while working at 163rd and 86th ave., in the Fernway subdivision. He was struck above the left eye with a wrecking bar. Nawrocki is an employee of Chicago Bridge and Iron Company, who are installing a disposal plant at the subdivision. At the time of his injury he was working--helping to erect a storage shed.

Seemingly not seriously injured, he continued working, but collapsed 20 minutes later. The Tinley Park fire department inhaled gave him oxygen until Dr. Helmut Feldman arrived on the scene. He was taken to Silver Cross hospital and did not regain consciousness until Tuesday morning.

'Y' Dance Classes At Orland Park

The Palos-Orland YMCA is sponsoring dancing instructions on Saturday morning at the Orland Park grade school.

The lessons will be for pre-school children and up to 14 years, and will consist of baby ballerina, tap and acrobatic dancing. The classes will be held from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

October Member Month For Lions

October has been set aside by Lions International as a period of enrollment of new members. To that end the New Lenox club will hold an open house in its Den at Cedar road and Fourth ave.

Two teams have been formed to enlist new members. The group headed by Frank Goetchel has challenged the team captained by Tony Padzuikas to a contest to see which can bring in the most new members.

Frankfort to Open Bids on Sewer Oct. 26

The Frankfort village board will open bids on the proposed village sewer system at its next regular meeting--Oct. 26. The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. so that is the time when bids on the project must be in the hands of the clerk, Walter Pfaff.

Plans for the sewer system, including a sewage treatment plant, are now in the hands of contractors. An ordinance authorizing the issuance and sale of revenue bonds also is scheduled for passage at the next meeting of the village board.

This ordinance was to have been brought up at the meeting on Monday of this week but there were some changes Village Attorney Albert H. Krusemark wished to make to meet all technicalities and so action was held up until the next session.

The meeting Monday night was taken up with routine matters except for adoption of a resolution. The resolution provides for vacation of portions of an alley off of Kansas street, between Oak and Hickory, along the S. & S. Sink Top property.

Mokena Sewer Only Half Used

There is nothing wrong with the Mokena sewer system that use will not cure, according to those in charge of the operation of the treatment plant.

There has been talk in the community and it has spread to neighboring areas--that something is wrong with the Mokena system. Village officials brand this as false.

The sewers are large enough and the treatment plant adequate to serve a population several times the present one, a spokesman said.

There are some 400 homes in Mokena that will be served by the sewer system but only about half are connected. Some persons have delayed connecting their homes with the sewers because they did not want to disturb their lawns.

It was pointed out, however, that when the water bills go out next Thursday, Oct. 15, they will carry sewer charges regardless of whether a connection has been made.

Householders were warned of this weeks ago.

The sewer system and the treatment plant will operate more efficiently when operating to capacity or near capacity, it was said.

Dedicate New Organ At Mokena Methodist Church

The new full console Allen church organ recently purchased by the Mokena Methodist church, will be dedicated at 3 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 11. Following the dedication program an organ concert will be presented by Hans Wurman. A skilled musician, the organist received his training in Vienna and London. He is a member of the Association of Organists, which is a very high honor.

Mr. Wurman was staff orchestrator for the British Broadcasting Corporation and is presently a staff organist with the "House of Organs" in Chicago. He also is the choir director of two Chicago churches.

His program of organ music will consist of, "Now Thank We All Our God", a number of selections by Bach, "Pastoral" by Cesar Franck, selection by Handel concerto No. 4, and a selection of favorite hymns. He will also accompany two soloists on the program.

Everyone in the community is invited to the dedication program and to hear the concert, by the pastor, Rev. Robert King.

INHALATOR CALLS

Inhalator calls at Orland Park should be made directly to the fire department, Fieldbrook 9-3121, a spokesman for the department emphasized. Calling the police department only serves to delay answering such a call, it was pointed out.

The same is true at Mokena where the fire department telephone number is Mokena 2121.

OPEN SCOUT FUND DRIVE--at Orland Park with a preliminary briefing. The campaign at Orland is set to kick-off Saturday, Oct. 10. Orland Park troops are a part of the Pottawattomi district and the fund campaign will be staged thruout that area. Two men will serve as co-chairmen of the drive at Orland, Justice of the Peace Roy Ben-

Lilac Is Called Our Best Loved Flowering Shrub

Ever since it was brought from Europe to America by early colonists, the lilac has been by far the most common and best-loved flowering shrub in northeastern United States, and a favorite for decorating graves on Memorial Day. They say that, in Colorado, in the early days of its settlement, "wherever went a woman—to the mines, to the farms, to the towns—there went a slip of lilac bush."

Here in the Middle West, lilacs provide masses of shrubbery in parks, cemeteries, country estates and suburban lawns; and are often used as hedges between city lots. In rural towns and on farms, most homes have at least one lilac in their yards. In our forest preserves many former homesites are marked by old lilac bushes that have become very tall, with dense thickets of stems that grow as "suckers" from the roots.

Lilacs belong to the Olive Family which includes three other common shrubs introduced into America—privet, forsythia and jasmone—as well as our native ash trees. The scientific name for the group is syringa but the mock orange, often called "syringa" incorrectly, is not related to it.

There are about 30 species originating from southeastern Europe to the Himalayas, China, Manchuria and Japan. However, by cross-breeding and other methods, hundreds of varieties have been developed. Now, at Morton Arboretum near Lisle, in DuPage County, there are lilacs with flowers that are white, yellowish white, various shades of pink to deep red, or shades of blue from pale to purple. Some are "double-flowered" varieties. Some are very fragrant, others are almost scentless, and one has a strong disagreeable odor. Some bloom in early spring—how early depends, of course, upon the weather—but a few kinds do not flower until mid-summer.

Most lilacs are shrubs that, if allowed to grow without pruning, may become from 10 to 25 feet tall. However, some seldom grow to be more than a few feet high and one, native to Japan, is a tree that attains a height of 30 feet. In general, they have dark green foliage—the pointed oval leaves are smooth and the ends in pairs—and, near the place in the twigs, bear large showy erect panicles (loose clusters) of many little bell-shaped four-petaled flowers. These are followed by small brown capsules of seeds.

Aside from their beauty, lilacs are popular because they are hardy in north temperate climates; are easy to grow from seed or from cuttings; are easy to transplant; and will grow almost anywhere. They prefer a soil that is moderately rich and moist but not too wet. They are more free from serious damage by diseases and insect pests than most shrubs. Further, they are not discouraged by drastic pruning.

If the flower clusters are neatly snipped off above the buds that will produce flowers next year, that keeps the bush from becoming too tall. If the tops are sheared off, regardless of the flower buds—as a hedge—but will not bloom. If cut off at ground level, next spring a lilac will send up a number of lusty sprouts.

Sort Clothes? Can Mix Em Says Expert

How up to date are your sorting habits?

Although the age-old customs of sorting laundry into loads by "putting cottons and linens together" and "separating white things from colored" are still basically sound, they need to be modified to include current laundry problems.

In this age of automatic washers, women wash so frequently that the pile of dirty laundry is rarely large enough to sort into all-white and all-colored loads.

Also, the many new fibers require broader sorting methods. Shirts, socks, table linen and underwear may be cotton, linen, synthetics or combinations of these fibers.

Mrs. Ruth Galbraith, associate professor of home economics, University of Illinois, gives these up-to-date procedures for sorting the family laundry into loads:

All normally soiled articles that can stand hot water (140 degrees F.) and regular washing cycle (10 minutes), whether white or color fast, can be washed together. A typical load might include sheets, pillowcases, towels, shirts, children's clothes and underwear. If you have enough to separate the white from the colored, or the heavily soiled from the lightly soiled, do so. But they can be washed together.

White nylon is the exception to mixing colored and white fabrics. White nylon picks up color from even colorfast fabrics.

Colored fabrics are divided on the basis of colorfastness and the amount of soil. Heavily soiled articles require hot water. Non-fast colors will do better in cooler water (100-115 degrees F.). But these are guides, not rules. Jeans, work clothes and socks require hot water and a 10-minute cycle, because they are heavily soiled, even though they may not be colorfast.

To determine colorfastness, squeeze a portion of the fabric in water the same temperature as the wash water. If it colors the water, don't put it in the load. You can test bindings and trimmings, such as red braiding on a white collar, by moistening them and pressing between folds of a white cloth.

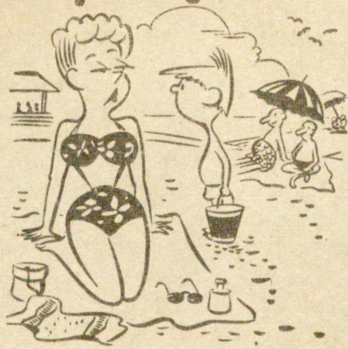

Sheer or delicate fabrics in both garments and household items make another machine load. The maximum water temperature for synthetic fibers is 120 degrees F. Since these articles are usually lightly soiled, they should wash clean in 5 minutes.

Garments with weak, fraying seams or applied trimmings can be included in this group. Protect them by washing in a net or mesh bag.

Bulky articles, such as bath mats, cotton rugs, bedspreads and mattress pads, are also grouped according to colorfastness and soil. Again the amount of soil, fiber content and colorfastness will determine the temperature and washing cycle.

COLD BATHS--are alright to read about but Lincoln-Way high school athletes aren't enthusiastic boosters of this spartan rule. They point out that perhaps a cold water shower in a warm room might be acceptable but if one took a cold shower in the Knights locker room now it would be double chilly. Taking a hot shower there is still cool, as a result of the school building program. The locker room is being enlarged and one can see the foots here for the new outer wall. One can also see a tarp covering what appears to be a hole in the wall in the present locker room and appearances aren't deceiving. There is a hole in the locker room wall--a big one--and the breeze which is now honing up an edge comes sweeping in around the edges and serves to cool people off. What the athletes and coaches can't figure out is why a hole had to be knocked in the wall until there was another wall ready to replace it. (Marvin Smith photo)

Habit

HOWEVER much teaching renders one refined, it yet leaves behind those earliest traces of the nature of each mind. We are not to suppose that evil habits can be so thoroughly plucked up by the roots, that one man shall not be more prone than another to keen anger, a second shall not be somewhat more quickly assailed by fear, a third shall not take some things more meekly than is right. In many other points there must be differences between the varied natures of men and the tempers which follow upon these. . . . But I think I may affirm this: Traces of the different natures left behind, which reason is unable to expel from us, are so exceedingly slight that there is nothing to hinder us from living a life worthy of the gods. -- Lucretius, aristocrat of Rome.

Will, the active phenomenon, is a different thing from desire, the state of passive sensibility, and though originally an offshoot from it, may in time take root and detach itself from the parent stock; so much so, that in the case of an habitual purpose, instead of willing the thing because we desire it, we often desire it only because we will it. This, however, is but an instance of that familiar fact, the power of habit, and is no more confined to the case of virtuous actions. Many different things, which men originally did from a motive of some sort, they continue to do from habit. -- John Stuart Mill, English, 1806-1873.

Man is very much a creature of habit. A thing that rarely strikes his senses will generally have but little influence on his mind. A government continually at a distance and out of sight can hardly be expected to interest the sensations of the people. . . . The more it circulates through those channels in which the passions of mankind naturally flow, the less will it require the aid of violent and perilous expedients of compulsion. -- The Federalist Papers.

Climbing perch, a strange fish found in Asia and Africa, manage to travel considerable distances overland to reach new water habitats. They are equipped with cavities over their gills which enable them to breathe air. They use gill covers as crutches to hobble along.

If it is necessary to have articles picked up, that can be arranged by calling her at Kellogg 2-2712.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jacobs have returned from an extended western tour. After spending a month on the west coast visiting relatives, and visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baldwin, former Tinley residents, they are seriously planning to retire to sunny California.

Hazel Crest Taxpayers Lose Fight To Halt Paving Program

(CNS) Hazel Crest officials, victors in a court battle, moved forward with plans to issue $525,000 in general obligation bonds to finance street improvements, including repairs on 22 village streets.

A temporary injunction holding up the project since early summer was dissolved Wednesday by Judge Walker Butler in Superior court of Cook county.

The court dismissed the suit filed ed by a group of citizens organized under the name of Taxpayers Association of Hazel Crest. Edgar L. Conant is president of the association and Walter E. Coburn, the secretary.

Judge Butler held the plaintiffs failed to prove allegations of the complaint and ruled the equities in the case are with the defendants, the village officials. A motion by the plaintiffs to file a third amendment to the complaint was denied by Judge Butler, who also said:

"There is no just reason to delay the enforcement of or appeal from this decree."

The court, though, retained jur-ed States and Canada addressed the group in the morning, using as her topic, "Thy Will be Done." The afternoon speaker was Margaret Stohl, India missionary home on furlough.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bixler, who celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary recently were honored Sunday with a family reunion in Scottsburg, Ind. Attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. George Keuch and Georgine; Mr. and Mrs. Jean Keuch and family; Mrs. Harol Teutemacher and son, Billie and Mrs. Eleanor Dunn and family.

isdiction for the sole purpose of assessing possible damages upon the suggestion of damages brief to be filed by the village. This phase of the case was set for hearing on Oct. 28.

The court upheld the recommendation of Harry Stark, master in chancery who heard 597 pages of testimony.

The suit challenged the legality of a referendum last June 20 when the bond issue was approved by voters by 706 to 453.

The judge agreed the village acted within its authority in conducting the referendum and that voters legally approved the bond issue.

John G. Cossidente, village president, said work on the project can begin this fall. Robert Sav-age, a village trustee and chairman of the street rehabilitation committee, said necessary storm sewer work for the project should be completed this year with actual road repairs slated for starting in the spring.

Street And Sidewalk Ordinance Is Added To City Municipal Code

By MARGOT BARTNIK
Sycamore 8-7742

A street and sidewalk ordinance was passed by the County Club Hills city council containing five sections:

1. General provisions
2. Driveways
3. Trees and shrubbery
4. Signs and awnings
5. House numbering

The third section regarding trees and shrubbery provides that "It shall be unlawful to plant any tree or shrub to remain beyond a lot line in any public street which parallels an open drainage system." This article makes it unlawful for residents of Units 1, 2, 3, 4, and 7 to have any trees or shrubs planted in the street right of way. The streets in these units have a 66 foot right of way which means that all trees or shrubs must be planted further than 33 feet from the center line of the road pavement.

The primary reasons for the enactment of this article is to provide access to the drainage ditches for maintenance, prevent the tree root system from impeding the flow of storm water, and permit adequate plowing of snow and space for storing of same.

Orrine Snow resigned from the planning commission. He will be replaced shortly.

HOMEOWNERS ASSOCIATION

The next Homeowners meeting will be Oct. 13, at Willowview school. Clarence Leek will speak in connection with the Association's duties and discuss what can be done about a community center. P.T.A. MEETING

More than 160 interested residents attended the first P.T.A. meeting of the new school year on Sept. 29, at the new Willowview school, 180th and Kostner.

Thomas McArdle, president of the school board, announced that the board will soon seek a referendum on construction of a new school, consisting of six to eight rooms.

School board member, Mary Lou Keyes, discussed the population growth of the city. Just five years ago the school district had 55 children enrolled in school. This year the enrollment is 530 children. By the end of this school year, it is expected the figure will be 650. Depending upon the developer and the continuance of general economy at its present level, it can be anticipated that approximately 200 homes per year will be added.

The assessed valuation behind each child, which is the main basis of revenue for the school district, was $17,800 in 1954. At the present time, the assessed valuation behind each child is only $7,800. The school district incorporates seven square miles, of which two square miles are covered by Country Club Hills as it now stands, and five square miles are still subject to development.

At present, school housing consists of Central school, Willowview and nine temporary buildings. The second new school should be ready for the 1960 school term. The third school, presently in the planning stage, would be a junior high school.

During the question and answer period at the P.T.A. meeting, members of the audience were given the opportunity to ask questions of the school officials. Among the questions raised, was one concerning the teaching of languages. The school board is in complete agreement that it would be ideal to have languages taught to small children, but there are unfortunately, no language teachers on the present staff. Nor are there funds to hire any.

Room mothers for the kindergarten through the fourth grade met with Sykuta Sept. 22. The room mothers for the fifth through the eighth grades met Sept. 23, at Willowview school. At both meetings they discussed parties for the coming year and decided upon four basic ones: Halloween, Christmas, Valentine's Day, and an "end of the year" party (fifth) THROUGH EIGHTH GRADE) the planning a series of afternoon and evening parties and get-togethers with square-dancing, social dancing, and other events.

At the Junior high level, much of the planning of parties will be done by the pupils through the student council, so the room mothers will work at large with both pupils and teachers. The first function planned for the Junior high is a Halloween party tentatively set for Oct. 31, with Morris Yates and Miss Donna Jean Nelson (both teachers) working with the children, planning this affair.

UNITED CHRISTIAN CHURCH

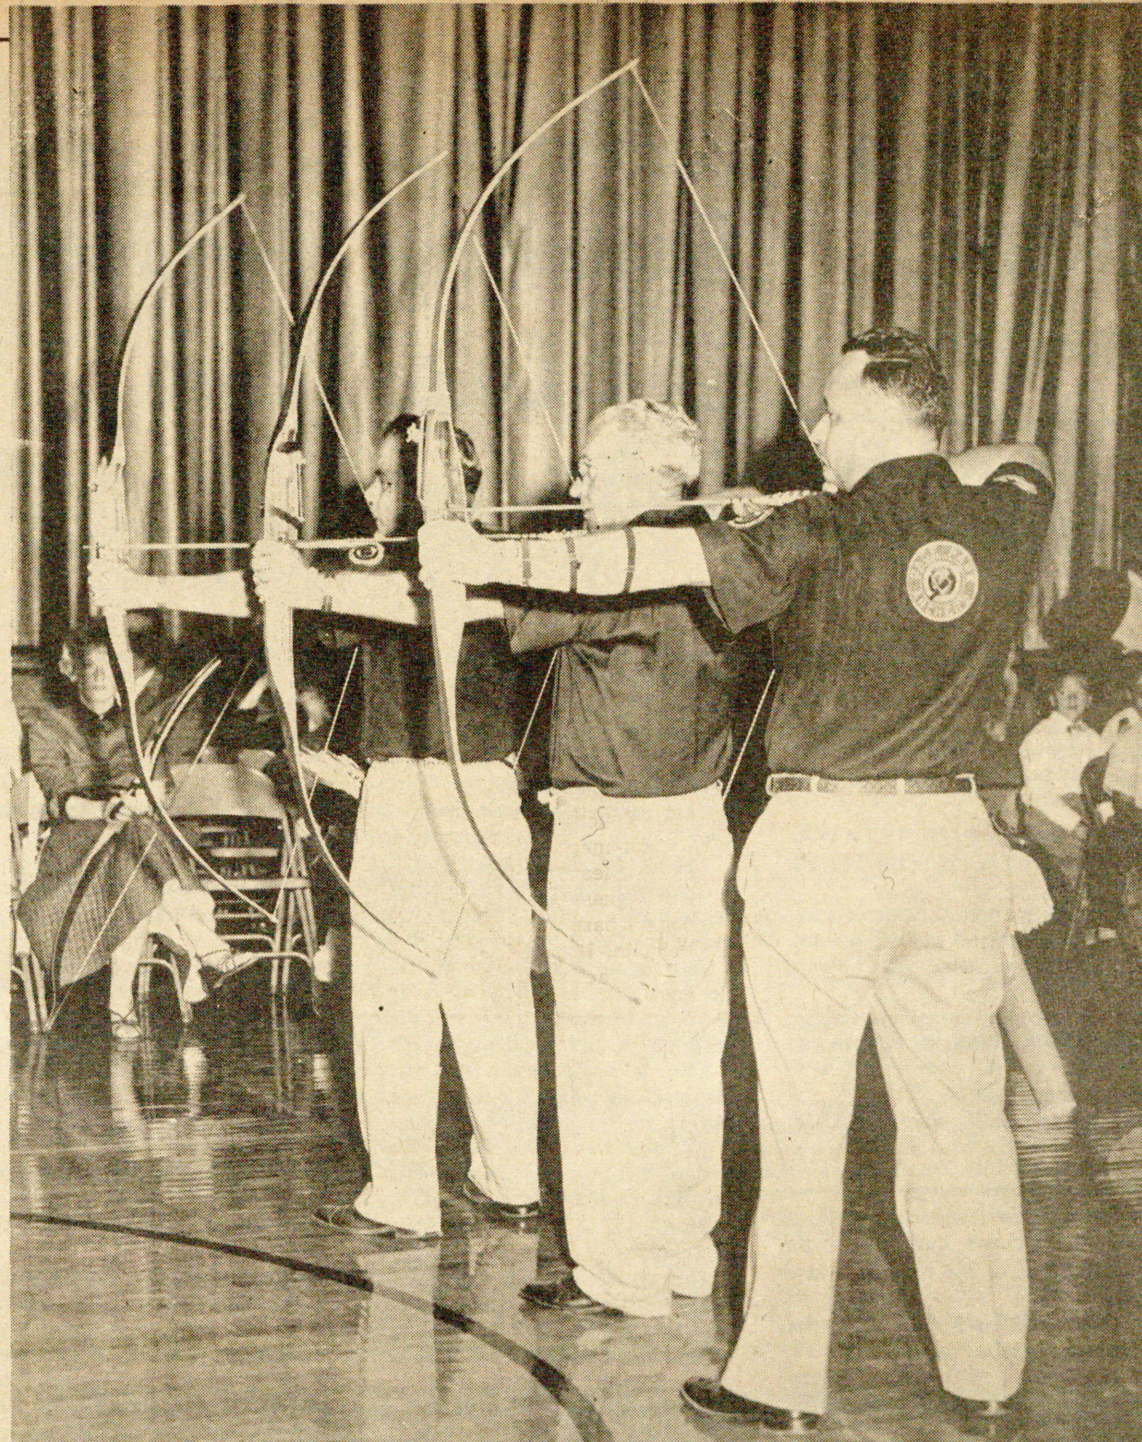

The United Christian church welcomed into its membership on Sept. 27, the first Sunday in the Willowview school, the following people: Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Risley, 18351 Anthony; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown, 18600 Baker; and Mrs. James Dombrowski, 18730 John.

At the promotion services of the Church School last Sunday, the primary through high school young people met in the early church service. Teachers were recognized, and those entering the Junior department received Bibles: Greg Jones, Cathy Barthel, David Sykuta, Jeff Segin, Jill Panneck, Allen Hejmalik, Claire Harrington, Ann Forsgren, Bill Boyer and Lynley Shank.

AN OLD ART--in a new dress and new setting. Archery served man down thru the ages as a means to provide food and clothing and a means of protection against his enemies. In ancient England it was compulsory to plant yew trees on the grounds surrounding village churches so there would be a central supply of wood for bows. Of course today bows are made from glass and other synthetic materials and few there are that are fashioned from wood. The men in this picture, each one a champion and member of the Black Shift Bowmen of Gage Park Archers club, gave a demonstration of plain and fancy shooting before the Tinley Park P.T.A. last week. KNIGHTS PLAY EAGLES SATURDAY

Homecoming Battle At Lincoln-Way is Top Game on SW Suburban Card

The knights are full of vim. Lashmet has the boys jumping around his round table at New Lenox after the fantastic results of last Saturday.

In fact, the most unusual thing that has happened in the conference football history transpired at New Lenox last Saturday when the band of Knights scuttled Rich 20 to 13. Joe Devine has his Eagles up high. In a brilliant second half finish, the Carl Sandburg outfit turned on the passing and the power and to the Ram a real lesson, 33-13.

That points to a big, big battle at New Lenox on Saturday at 2 p.m. This is definitely the game of the week and could be the game of the year.

Actually, neither the Eagles or the Knights are out of the conference crown contest at this point. They are in it. Evergreen is perched atop the conference, but their position is not so tenable.

Bremen was humbled badly last Saturday and one wonders if the Redmen will recover from the horrible passing from Oak Lawn. They will be stronger, but don't look for a win.

Rich is not dead and must be counted on to rebound this week-end.

However, either the Eagles or the Knights could windup the season with a tie for the league crown.

Lashmet will have trouble with his Knights, due to the lack of adequate reserves. As the season wears along this will show up more and more.

Sandburg has the depth, but a little less experience.

Neither Devine or Lashmet will predict anything like a crown. They are going to play the games from week to week.

The Sandburg -- Lincoln-Way contest has to be rated a toss-up.

Neither coach would predict a thing about this game. Both teams were jubilant over the Saturday victories and were pointing toward next Saturday's contest.

It is indeed an enjoyable sight, yet a strange one in the SWS, to see Lincoln-Way and Carl Sandburg in the battle of the big ones on a week-end.

Lashmet will again count on tremendous line play from Bill Seavertson. Bill will have to give all that he has and a little more if he is going to move that big Sandburg line.

Both teams are loaded with backs. Yes, there is plenty of inexperience in the backfields, but that usually means that one young man will shine out on a given week.

Last week we were dazzled with the display of deft running by Jim Jeffries of Sandburg. Jeffries was terrific.

Quarterback Jerry McBride did an adequate job of passing for a couple of touchdowns. Ted LaVine showed tremendous pass catching

Krumske To Display His Skill On Oak Forest Bowling Lanes

Paul Krumske, voted Chicago's greatest bowler of the half century will appear at the new Oak Forest Bowling Lanes on Saturday afternoon and evening, 2 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Krumske is one of only four men to hold all three National Match Game Championships.

Krumske has held the national championships in Individual Match Game (defeated Ned Day in a home and home match. He won the Doubles Match Game with Joe Sinke. He was on the Team Match Game Championship. He was a National BPA All-Star Finalist 5 successive years.

Krumske holds records in the Andorka Singles Classic with a 1415, 6-game total. Skovle Singles Classic of Chicago he holds the record with a 6-game total of 1398.

He is the only man to have won the Chicago Individual Match Game, Champion for two successive years. This Krumske did this twice. Krumske holds World's Record in the Doubles Score with Adolph Carlson (four game total pins 2009).

He is also the holder of the World's Record Team Competition Individual Score. He had a four game total of 977. Included in it was a 300 game.

Paul has been selected on Seven All-American teams.

ability and will definitely have to be stopped.

Lashmet is running twins, Jerry Haehnlein and Howie Mann, will be there and will be running. It was this pair that spelled the ultimate defeat for the Rocket.

These diminutive fellows have sparked the Lincoln-Way attack.

"Skip" Kruzich is developing into a fine quarterback. He flipped a 21-yarder to Don Carter for a score. His big improvement is coming in field generalship.

Kruzich should improve each week.

So, friends--the Eagle and the Knight do battle. This will be an epic struggle in the SWS. Never have these two football teams fought each other in a crucial battle such as this one. Never have birds and Knights fought.

Hold your hats! Peeping Pigskin thinks that the Knights will win by a point. We are looking for the Eagles and Lincoln-Way to come off with a tie score.

If this game does not result in a tie, either team is going to win by at least two touchdowns.

A pattern is beginning to form itself in the conference. When a team has been thwarted for a time --it seems that the winner can begin to pour it on for a big margin.

Bremen will have to run for cover again this weekend.

Last week Oak Lawn ripped the Redmen with apparent ease. Evergreen took the Spartans and the week before in a close one.

If the Braves come up with the victory over the Mustangs it will be a major upset. Almost bigger than the Lincoln-Way upset.

Evergreen will be battling to hold the conference lead and remain unbeaten.

The Braves will be trying to rebound next week-end, but the repairs will be major and it looks like the Braves may have to be counted out of the SWS fight even this early.

Larry Callan's job is a great big one. Maybe, too big.

Evergreen, with John LePore, will be a bit too rough for the Braves.

The Mustangs must now be counted as a title threat. Not a serious one, however.

Evergreen should beat Bremen by at least two touchdowns.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

Last week we discussed the correct mental attitude of a motorist, how it can make the difference between a safe and a dangerous driver, and how it can make driving far more enjoyable. Here are some more tips along the same line.

A driver with the right mental attitude governs his speed sensibly according to the highway conditions. When another vehicle attempts to pass him, he will not increase his speed so as to make the passing hazardous or to refuse to allow the other motorists to pass.

When he is passing another vehicle, a safe driver--the one with the correct mental attitude--will not swing back into the lane, cutting sharply in front of the vehicle he has just passed. He will pass only when he is sure that it can be done with safety to other cars as well as to his own.

And the driver who is considerate of other motorists will not weave in and out of traffic, flitting from one lane to another.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

Whew! A predictor will not only get ulcers, grey hairs, but many wrong selection if the SW Suburban Conference continues on the same crazy fashion that it did on Saturday.

However, we are not unhappy with the turn out of a wrong prediction on the Rich-Lincoln-Way contest. Bremen was a real stunner. Oak Lawn was not considered highly and the, 38-0, Bremen loss left the conference stunned.

Carl Sandburg looked every inch the contender as they stormed all over Reavis in the last quarter for a, 33-13 victory.

The Eagles looked quite good.

A young man by the name of Jeffries, No. 64, will haunt the Rams for some time to come. That, No. 64, Eagle turned the Ram horn at about every crucial point in a touchdown drive.

Jeffries showed something that we saw for the first time this season. He knew how to follow his blockers. Jeffries just wandered through the mass of flesh, in many cases almost untouched. He was untouched because of his unusual ability to get the most out of his blocking.

After he had picked his way over the line of scrimmage and followed his blocking--then he would turn on the speed. Go--go and go some more.

Jeffries was not a little man who could be upset at a moments notice, but had to be stopped. Actually, he was the big man at the important points in that contest for Joe Devine and his Sandburg Eagles.

Rich had to taste the bitter pill of defeat for the first time in 18 contests.

This game was not a fluke. Lincoln-Way did not win the game on breaks or anything like it. In fact, the Knights could easily have smashed the Rocket by a 33-13, score.

Don Carter, after a beautiful fake, dropped a pass in the end zone which stopped the first drive. And in the fourth quarter the Knights were down within the Rocket 10 yard line on three different times. A few breaks for Rich actually kept the score down in its defeat.

Dick Anderson took a group of beaten boys back to Park Forest. They were whipped and soundly.

This sets the stage for a huge battle at New Lenox next Saturday when the Knights and Eagles tangle.

Evidently the Knights are not the league dormats and the near win over Bremen was not a phony, but something of what was to come from the Red and Black.

I'm not looking forward to prediction for this next week. My average is dropping down somewhat.

The unsung hero in the Rich--Lincoln-Way game was Bill Seavertson. He was magnificent in the line for the Knights.

Bill made something like 24 or 26 tackles in the game--at least he was in on that many.

In the first quarter a Rich runner broke clear and seemed headed for paydirt, but Seavertson didn't give up and caught the speedy back and threw him.

Bill had demonstrated ability to be rugged up front, as a line backer on defense. On offense he leads the charge and did it.

JIM JEFFRIES (64) of Carl Sandburg is turning the corner with two Reavis linemen in hot pursuit. This was the usual position for the Reavis team all day with Jeffries. They were chasing him. Here, Jeffries is picking his way down field. (Marvin Smith photo)

Electronic Device Used by Kenny in Testing of Muscles

Minneapolis, Minn.—Measuring muscular force in pounds of pressure by electronic devices to aid in the diagnosis of various neuromuscular diseases is one of the newest methods of determining the ravages left by disease on the muscular system, according to physiatrists.

At Elizabeth Kenny institute, here, such a measuring unit, a myodenometer, the only one of its kind now being used for medical research in the country, is turning up useful facts regarding muscle development or deterioration, according to physical therapists there.

Prior to introduction of the myodenometer as a testing device by Dr. Willis C. Beasley, Bethesda, Md., doctors had no better guide in determining the effects of disease on a patient's muscular system than the personal impression they got from actually feeling the muscles. Previously, individual judgment, said physiatrists, whether expressed as a percent rating, a numerical scale or such descriptions as "normal" or "poor" made

Business & Finance

By MAURICE P. ANGLAND

A few years ago Fortune Magazine made a study of economic changes that have taken place in this country and the effect on buying habits.

The magazine stated, "If a cross country poll were taken to determine the most important factor influencing the USA business scene, it would be a safe bet that the meteoric rise in the middle income group, would receive top billing."

The First National Bank of Boston, recently made a study of income changes. The study stated: "More than one half of the 54.3 million consumer units in 1958, had incomes of $5,000 or more. Average unit income of $6,220 compares with the 1947 average of $4,130."

"Upward income shifts have exerted their most powerful influence in the dramatic and unprecedented expansion of the mass market for a wide range of products and services. Families with incomes of $6,200, buy widely different goods and in very different quantities and qualities than their counterparts of a few years ago. Federal Reserve studies suggest that families with rising incomes tend to buy major durable goods at least one fourth more frequently than families with stable incomes. A high level of durable goods spending is a vital component of periods of prosperity."

"The future offers great change as well as promise. Research and development spending of more than $10 billion annually will bring an unending flow of products to tempt customers."

The New York Stock Exchange is constantly making studies of investment habits and preferences as shown by ownership of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

A recent study was made as to who owns American business. They found that 68 per cent of all stock owners, own shares listed on the New York Stock Exchange. A total of 12,490,000 Americans own shares in public corporations which is nearly double the 1952 total and 45 per cent above 1956.

The study also shows that one out of eight adults is a share owner and half of all share owners have an income range between $5,000 and $10,000 annually. The average age of those who have become share owners since 1956, is 35 and all share owners it is 49.

The proportion of women share owners increased slightly from 1956 to 1959. Women now account for 52.5 per cent of all adult owners of stock, compared to 51.4 per cent in 1956. As to age groups, the largest gains were in the 45 to 54 and the 65 and over brackets.

Owners of shares in investment companies (largely Mutual Funds) only, totaled 1,235,000. As to geographical distribution of share owners, New York, which ranks second to California, had the greatest gain since 1956. Pennsylvania moved into third place and Illinois dropped to fourth position.

It is not so many years ago that some of our political aspirants had a stock whipping boy for all of the country's ills. It was "those Wall Street devils" who own our big corporations. It is now well established that thru the mutual funds pension and profit sharing plans, that a substantial percentage of the ownership of the leading corporations is in the hands of the so-called little people operating in such groups.

Deny Rezoning Area To Allow Storage Tank

The Tinley Park village board accepted the recommendation of the Plan Commission that a petition for rezoning from residential district to industrial be denied.

The petition was presented by the John Bellante Agency on behalf of the Standard Oil Company, who wished to erect a tank for bulk storage on the property adjacent to its present storage plant.

When the hearing was held last Friday, many residents of the area appeared and objected to the rezoning of the area, which consists of three lots. The Standard Oil Company would have only used only one of the lots, it was stated, and a fence would be erected around the area.

The school board in laying the initial plans for the new building, wish to learn what village services may be extended to them.

Wilma Schuldt Becomes Bride Of James Vandermark in Church Rites

In a candlelight ceremony on September 5 in the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran church, Mokena, Miss Wilma Schuldt became the bride of James Vandermark.

Rev. A. J. Bueltmann officiated at the ceremony of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Schuldt 77 East McGowney st., Mokena, who recited wedding promises with the son of Mrs. Marion Vandermark, 1112 N. Joliet st., Wilmington.

Escorted by her father to an altar banked by white gladiolus and candles, the bride wore a gown of lace over satin, fashioned with a sabrina neckline with sequins, long lace sleeves, empire waistline which flowed into a ruffled skirt in front of nylon tulle and lace with a chapel length train flowing from front to back. Her headpiece was a rhinestone tiara with a fingertip veil of silk illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white gardenias and ivy.

Miss Joanna Schuldt attended her sister as maid of honor. Her gown of emerald green tulle with a cast of blue in it, was designed with a bouffant street length skirt with small bows scattered around it. Top of the dress was fashioned with a round neckline with small band around the waistline. Her matching headpiece was a large flat bow on a head band with a small veil. She carried a bouquet of light yellow carnations and wore white gloves as accessories. Miss Beverly Bettenhausen and Mrs. Donald Kuna, who served as the bridesmaids, were attired in similar dresses.

Donald Kuna served the groom as best man while Vernon Chaney and Douglas Strobel served as ushers. During the ceremony the songs "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Bonnie Rydell and accompanied on the organ by Miss Carol Gilmore. A reception followed the wedding ceremony in the church basement where refreshments were served buffet style.

The bride's mother was attired in a turquoise dress of a rayon material and had matching accessories. The groom's mother was attired in a multi-print blue and green dress with hat to match. Both wore corsages of white roses. The newlyweds motored to Fort Collins, Colo. where the groom is now attending Colorado State University.

Lutherans Start Evangelism Week With Mass Rally

Pastors and laymen representing 14 congregations in the South Suburban area met at Hope Lutheran church, Park Forest, last Sunday to complete plans for their week long Evangelism Mission to be held Oct. 18 to 22. The Rev. L. W. Bekemeier, pastor of Hope Lutheran church presided and reports were heard from all the planning committees. Rev. Bekemeier is serving as general chairman for all the churches participating in this project.

The evangelism week will begin with a mass rally in Bloom Township High school Sunday, Oct. 18, at 2:30 p.m. The opening meeting will be followed by special services Sunday evening and each night thereafter through the following Thursday. These special services will be held in all of the individual congregations participating in the program.

The week of special services will be preceded with several training sessions for laymen. These laymen will contact other laymen for assistance through the mission week's program.

The mission itself will have a three-fold emphasis: Preaching services in each local congregation, instruction sessions for lay workers and congregational officers, and the planning of permanent local evangelism programs.

The mission, however, is not a "membership campaign." Its purpose as stated by the Rev. Dr. Oswald Waech, national director of Lutheran Evangelism, "is to stimulate the Christian faith of our own people, and to equip and inspire them to do a better job of evangelism in their every day lives."

The number of new biographies published in the United States in 1958 was 697. There were also 1,522 children's books, 2,235 works of fiction, 97 on music and 451 books on poetry and drama.

PTA News

MOKENA UNIT

The Mokena PTA has planned a unique manner in which to conduct their membership drive. It will continue until Friday, Oct. 23, with Mrs. Mary Lee Bressler as chairman.

The drive centers around a rocket to the moon theme. Posters picturing a PTA moon with a rocket on the launching pad have been placed in each class room.

For each membership brought to the school a section of the rocket will be colored representing that child's section. When all sections have been filled in that class will have reached its goal.

Competition will be high among the rooms to see which room will be first to reach the moon with 100% membership. Parents may help launch the rocket by signing the membership cards and with the annual fee give them to the children to be returned. Where there are children from one family in different grades, credit will be given in both rooms.

FRANKFORT UNIT

Hostesses for the evening will be the 7th grade mothers with the chairman Mrs. John Anderson. Mrs. Lewis Ebert will preside at the business session.

TINLEY PARK UNIT

Members of the Tinley Park Parent Teacher Association saw an interesting demonstration of archery by the Gage Park Archery club Friday night. The shooting power of an arrow as compared to a 22 caliber rifle shot was illustrated by shooting into a box of sand, first with the rifle, and then with the arrow. The rifle bullet did not penetrate the box entirely, but the arrow did.

Keith Grabowski, 16, was the first participant with a grouping of arrows tried. Peggy Pocius of the Tinley Park Archery club and her mother, Marion demonstrated balloon shooting. A ping pong ball was shot from the center of a suspended watch by Edward Tarrant and Edward Hintz gave a field trial display type shooting.

William Libbert of Tinley Park, a member of the Bremen Community High school board advised parents of the coming special election on Oct. 24, in which a bond issue will be presented to the public covering the building of a high school in Tinley Park.

"Are Parents Worried About the Wrong Things" was the subject of a talk by Lee Morris, Supt. of Harvey schools.

The room count showed Mrs. Lembke's room, 107, Bert Fulton school and Mrs. Miller's room, 105, Central school to be the winners.

The seventh grade mothers served refreshments.

Oct. 31 is the deadline for membership in the PTA, it has been announced by Mrs. John Naughton, vice president. The classroom representing the largest number of PTA memberships will receive a $5 award.

Is Man's Work Ever Really Done?

For a long time whenever one looked at a newspaper, magazine or opened one's mail he could not escape from the blandishments of a manufacturer who assured the reader that by use of his tools or material he too could build cabinets, add an extra room to his home, lay tile, construct hi-fi or TV sets, shoe horses, make costume jewelry or do a thousand or one other things that would qualify him as a master handyman.

Most men—at least we like to think so—because we aren't—are not builders nor mechanics and as a result a lot of fingers, toes, arms and legs were bruised or whittled and considerable good material butchered beyond recovery when they attempted the role. There were some fearsome and odd looking jobs done by do-it-yourselfers before the trend tapered off and the American male found himself free to resume some of the real do-it-yourself activities he enjoyed before he tried his hand at wallpapering or converting upstairs bedrooms into attics or vice versa. We refer, of course, to some of those standby do-it-yourself jobs such as golf, swimming, fishing, boating, reading, card playing, eating, drinking, sleeping or sitting.

But before you take up one of these projects as a hobby stretch out in a chair with the feeling that shelf building, shingling or siding jobs are now out the window with the other laborious do-it-yourself things—let us remind you.

And follows this is a task for which we have no liking. We would like to say to you we are completely liberated from the do-it-yourself business—but let's face it, there is no escape.

After cutting grass all summer—a do-it-yourself task that few ever adopt as a hobby—one is not sure with the great outdoors. There is still work to be done, according to the experts from the University of Illinois.

If they would lock their typewriters-up and confine their teachings to young men who probably are looking for something to do to work off their excess energy, those of us with yards and garden-minded wives would be better off.

As it is we are faced with the contention of these experts that the early part of October is a good time to plant shrubbery and small trees.

They admit that most homeowners wait until spring for this chore but claim that the fall is even better because the roots will get a good foothold and be ready for a fast take-off in the spring.

Be sure, the experts say, to make the hole roomy so that the roots have a chance to spread out. And to make a greater production out of it those busy-bodies at the U. of I. suggest that if the soil isn't rich it is a good idea to add peat moss. A good mulch for trees and shrubs, these people say is cracked corn cobs, straw or peat moss. They also recommend pruning about a third of the foliage just after planting.

Little equipment is necessary. A spade, a mid-dling strong back, one tree, or one shrub. The one tree or one shrub is the minimum and while most husbands will endeavor to hold the set up to a minimum, we can tell them now they have lost.

The sulky type mower is giving some ease to the grass cutting do-it-yourselfers. Now if some kindly manufacturer will put a riding snow shovel on the market at a reasonable price maybe we can get thru the winter.

Of course, the ideal way to clear off snow would be to have the shovel rigged so it could be operated by remote control.

On Second Thot

The U. S. Postoffice is going push-button.

This is the government bureau that deals directly with more people than any other tax supported agency.

Practically everyone gets mail at sometime or other. They either owe money and so get bills or someone is trying to get them obligated thru purchase on an easy payment plan—via mail—so they can send them bills.

So when the postoffice goes modern millions of people may get the urge to do likewise.

Before too long the typewriter, the ball point pen, the pencil may be obsolete. People will dash off letters and bills on special machines that will make dashes, dots, blocks and slots and to read it the receiver will have to feed the message, thru a machine that will translate the symbols into letters, words and figures.

Envelopes so directed would feed through machines in postoffices—thus eliminating the need of any human help.

Right now the government has a postoffice at Providence, R. I. where most of the work is done by machines and a new one is planned for Oakland, Calif. that will approach still nearer to the automatic stage.

The government already has machines that will sort 3,000 letters an hour to 300 destinations. They still have to have one operator, however, but in time it is probable the operators can be eliminated.

There are machines now that can read the addresses on letters but releases from the P. O. at Washington do not say whether they can read the messages on postcards.

There are also machines that sort parcel post. In this connection we would like to suggest that the addition of one of the pitching machines some of the regular major league teams use to serve up balls in batting practice would be an excellent thing in the large postoffices to handle the packages marked "Fragile."

A mechanical pitcher would be a boon to the older clerks in handling the fragile items. Some of them have been in there pitching every day for 25 or 30 years and their speed is gone. When that happens they have to rely on control to hit the ends of the conveyor rollers or try to bounce the packages off the cement floor. With the mechanical pitchers, however, the older clerks would out-perform the younger ones.

The postoffice also is coming out with what they call a "postal substitution." It is a big square metal thing with a dial on the front and a lot of slots thru which one may get books, of stamps, strings of stamps (three denominations), post cards, two sizes of stamped envelopes, writing paper, a gadget that makes the right change and delivers it and a built in scale to weigh letters.

The machine looks big enough to add other conveniences for the customer, like hot soup, cold drinks, ice cream cones, and coffee, tea or milk.

Oh yes. They have a machine to issue money orders too. Now if someone would just invent a machine to issue money for free, you say.

Well, there is such a machine—Congress. The catch is that one has to live abroad to share in it.

"A special committee is trying to make the U.N. less wordy, and we're against it. That's the place where talk is better than its alternatives." — Changing Times.

DENTAL HEALTH

DENTAL BRIDGES AND PARTIAL DENTURES

The principles that govern bridge building in engineering apply to the field of reconstructive dentistry.

To replace missing teeth, dentists are able to build bridges that will withstand the heavy stresses of chewing and yet be flexible enough to "give" like natural teeth.

There are two types of bridge-work—fixed and removable. As the names imply, one is a permanently anchored bridge, the other can be taken out at will for cleansing.

One kind of removable bridge is retained by metallic clasps placed whenever possible so they will not show. A second kind is one in which inlays or crowns are fitted to the natural teeth which then support the bridge. To these inlays or crowns, various types of precise locking receptacles are attached.

In addition to bridgework, dentists are able to make partial dentures for patients where a large number of teeth must be replaced. In such cases, the soft tissues rather than the supporting teeth must take up most of the stress and strain.

The partial denture is supported much like the pontoon bridge in army engineering where floating boats hold up a platform of planks. In pontoon bridges the strain is taken by the vessels.

The dental bridge, on the other hand, is like a suspension bridge over the river where the towers support cables from which the bridge is suspended. The full strain is taken by the abutments.

Partial dentures and removable or permanent bridges can be constructed of gold, stainless steel, plastic or a combination of all 3.

In making bridgework or denture work, dentists keep in mind the maintenance of mouth cleanliness, the prevention of excessive pressure on soft tissues, the prevention of interferences with muscles of the tongue, the equal distribution of chewing forces and beauty requirements for naturalness in appearance.

Chicago Heights Symphony Plans Four Concerts

Four excellent musical events are being offered for the next few months by the Chicago Heights Symphony Orchestra an organization now in its sixth year under the direction of John Paris, an experienced and gifted conductor.

He has assembled from the south suburban regions after tryouts, a group of 65 musicians whose work has been phenomenally good. Guest artists of high calibre are employed at the concerts.

First of the events will be presented at 3:15 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 25, at Bloom High school's new auditorium, featuring Robert McDowell, pianist.

The second concert will be presented Dec. 6. At the Feb. 28, 1960 concert, the audience will hear Licia Alfonsese, soprano. The fourth concert will be held April 24, 1960. Other outstanding soloists will appear at future concerts.

A campaign is now on for the sale of season tickets which can be ordered by mail from the Committee for Chicago Heights or from Sid Panicki who may be addressed at the office of the Presstite Division of the Olin Mathison Corporation, Chicago Heights. Price for the season is $5.

Hulett Corp. Loses Round With Alsip

(CNS) Judge Grover C. Niemeyer of Superior court has denied the request of Hulett Corp., of Oak Forest that Alsip set aside $35,000 pending outcome of their village reservoir suit.

The company is seeking $16,200 for work performed before the village cancelled the reservoir construction contract last spring and $18,000 for its "rightful profit" on the project.

The company wanted the village ordered to set aside the funds from Alsip's bond improvement waterworks account.

The court ordered the cause transferred to the law calendar. The village earlier filed a demand for a jury trial and Vincent Ewald, village attorney, has estimated it will take five years for the case to work its way to the top of the law calendar for that.

WILLIAM F. WHITESIDE
Cook Co. Assoc. Farm Adviser

Early October is a good time to plant shrubbery and small trees. Planting now lets the roots get a foothold so that the plants will be ready to grow in the spring. Except for broad leaved evergreen shrubs and a few trees, almost any sort of tree or shrub will grow well if planted now. Your nurseryman can tell you specifically which of the plants should not be fall planted.

It is wise to prune back the foliage on fall planted shrubs. Roots can make a better start if they do not have too much foliage to support.

Census takers will be combing Illinois farms and homes this fall. The last farm census was taken in 1954. The results of the census are published on a county, state and national scale. These up to date totals are helpful to farmers in making decisions about their operations.

Ignorance may be bliss, but it can lead to serious injury and even death when you operate machinery. Take a look at the operator's manual, get to know the machine but don't get too friendly. It might bite back. Corn pickers are particularly dangerous and I hope everyone operating a corn picker will take the time to be safe, rather than sorry.

Starting in October, farmers have social security disability protection. This date can be important for any farmer disabled in October or later months. Farmers having questions about social security, should contact this office or the Social Security office at 15339 Turlington ave., Harvey, Ill. phone Edison 3-1140.

I took part in a committee meeting, whose duty it was to determine the need for conservation on the soil in Cook county. You may be surprised to know, as were some members of the committee, that there are still approximately 135,000 acres of cropland in Cook county. We grow about 45,000 acres of corn, about 22,000 acres of vegetables. The remainder is in pasture, hay, small grain and miscellaneous.

There are still approximately 2,000 farms being operated in this county. Urbanization has taken a lot of farm land out of production in this county. I am sure that this trend will continue; however, with 135,000 acres of cropland, this county won't be without a farm population overnight.

tory blooming should begin.

Peonies make large plants so allow plenty of room for them to expand.

Once established they do not like to be disturbed. Few diseases or insects attack peonies. Ants, often prolific on peonies, cause much undue concern. They do not hurt the plants, but remove the sweet material secreted by the buds.

Now Is Time To Plant Peonies Advises Expert

By JAMES FIZZELL
Asst. Cook Co. Farm Adviser

Early fall is considered the best time to plant one of the most popular garden perennials, peonies. Most of these plants are familiar to and are appreciated by almost everyone. They are one of the most showy and most easily grown of all garden flowers.

Most of our peony varieties originated from two species, Paeonia albiflora and Paeonia chinensis. The species are almost never planted, but the centuries of crossing have resulted in the many varieties and types which so beautify our gardens in late spring.

Peony flowers are classified as to the amount of doubleness. Singles have five petals and a multitude of stamens. The transformation of these stamens into petal-like structures is what produces doubleness. Japanese types have two to three rows of petals and strap-like stamens. Fully double peonies are known as rose or bomb types. The American Peony Society lists other intermediate types but the three general categories are usually enough for accurate classification.

Double peonies are sterile, and cannot be reproduced from seeds. The single and Japanese varieties are hybrids, and even though they may produce seeds, the resultant plants may be quite unlike their parents.

Peonies are almost always propagated by division of the large storage roots called tuber. The divisions should be made in September so that they can make new roots before winter. The tubers should be divided into sections containing three to five eyes. Plant the sections so that the top eye is about two inches below the surface of the soil. Too deep or too shallow planting is often the cause of

Pastor Speaks At Senior Class Guidance Program

The Rev. Dallas D. Mucci, pastor of the Tinley Park Church of the Nazarene, spoke to the Lincoln-Way community high school senior class on "Your Record and Your Future."

Rev. Mucci's talk was a part of the senior guidance counseling program that has been instituted at Lincoln-Way for the current school year.

"Grades, attitudes, and habits are the stuff that make your record," said Mucci.

Your record will directly effect your immediate goals and those in the future.

"Grades are important---attitudes direct your life---habits---choose your ruts well for these are your formative years," was the substance of the second half of the speech.

Courage

LET this truth be present to thee in the excitement of anger, that to be moved by passion is not manly, but that mildness and gentleness, as they are more agreeable to human nature, so also are they more manly; and he who possesses these qualities possesses strength, nerve and courage, and not the man who is subject to fits of passion and discontent.—Marcus Aurelius, Emperor of Rome.

He was endowed with a soul rarely tempered by nature, and disposed to virtue, which he had yet more subdued by discipline, a severe life and the study of philosophy; means which had not only succeeded in expelling the baser passions, but also the violent and rapacious temper which barbarians are apt to think highly of; true bravery, in his judgment, was regarded as subjugation of our passions by reason.—Plutarch (46-120), writing of the Emperor Numa.

Plotius Firmus, who was prefect of the Praetorian Guards, repeatedly besought Otho not to desert an army so loyal and soldiers so deserving.—"There is more courage in bearing trouble," he said, "than in escaping from it; the brave and the energetic cling to hope, even in spite of misfortune; the cowardly and the indolent are hurried into despair by their fears."—Tacitus (55-117), historian of Greece and Rome.

Staff Members Evaluate School Courses

Approximately 65 people attending an afternoon coffee given by the Tinley Park Parent Teachers Association board for parents of 2nd, 3rd, and 4th graders at Bert Fulton School, heard Supt. Walter Fierke express the hope that they would take an active interest and role in the Tinley Park PTA, and the state and national organizations, as well.

Pointing out that the caliber of a PTA unit depends on the quality rather than the size of the membership, Mr. Fierke recommended a combination of the two. He noted favorably the contributions of the Tinley Park PTA toward scholarships, and the unusually large number of local subscribers to the National Parent-Teacher, the PTA magazine.

Concerning teaching scholarships, Supt. Fierke suggested the possibility of establishing scholarships for those already in the teaching profession who are interested in qualifying to work in the field of special education.

Describing the school system, Fierke said that two courses of the curriculum are evaluated during each school year by a committee of staff members, who then recommend alterations to meet current demands. This year, the reading and social studies programs are undergoing examination. He pointed with pride to the language laboratory now in operation and the wide range of audio-visual material now being used, as illustrations of the results of recent evaluations. This year, a reading consultant for the 2nd and 3rd grades, has been added to the staff to institute remedial and accelerated reading programs.

In conclusion, Fierke asked the parents to work with the teachers and keep informed of what is done, how it's done, and to observe the results, in the school system. John R. Henneberry, principal of Central school and Mrs. J. Rauhoff, Principal of Bert Fulton School were introduced.

Prior to the program, the guests played a game which promoted informal introductions. The winner, Mrs. Melvin Gungel, will receive a 10 issue subscription to the National Parent-Teacher.

After welcoming the guests, Mrs. Kenneth Schmudde, president introduced the board members.

Soliciting donations for Family Fun Night, Mrs. Charles E. Moore, ways and means chairman, asked that contributions of white elephant items, 10 cent "prizes", cakes, homemade candy, jams, jellies, and preserves, plants, planters, boots and rubbers be delivered to Central School or to call her for further information.

October has been designated as the time for intensified PTA membership enrollment campaign and Mrs. John Naughton, vice president, urged the guests to enroll through Mrs. Allan Howie, membership chairman, before Nov. 1. An award of $5 will go to the classroom representing the largest number of PTA memberships.

Mrs. Harold A. Peterson, parent education chairman, extended an open invitation to attend the Child Study discussions which are held in Room 105 of Central school at 8 p.m. on the Thursday following the regular PTA meetings.

Parents whose children walk to school were asked to impress their youngsters with the importance of crossing streets at guarded corners by Mrs. Walter H. Barton, safety chairman. There are five intersections now protected by crossing guards. They are as follows: Oak Park ave. at 171st st.; Oak Park ave. at Hickory ("Rudy's Corner"); Oak Park ave. at the railroad crossing; 66th Court, railroad crossing and Oak Forest ave. ("Harper's Crossing"); and 175th st. at 67th ave.

Arrangements for the "coffee" were made by Mrs. Henry Schaye, hospitality chairman, assisted by Mrs. Donald L. Fulton, in co-operation with the PTA board. Other members of the board present were: Mrs. Gervis Klepper, Mrs. Harry Schmidt, Mrs. Newton Brightwell, and Mrs. Clyde Roberts.

Mrs. Donald L. Fulton and Mrs. Henry Schaye were responsible for addressing and mailing the invitations which were designed by Mrs. Edward W. Magee and completed with the assistance of Mrs. Irwin Johnson and Mrs. Don Hollingshead.

Decorative identification pins worn by the board members at the "coffee" and by the staff members, as well, at the last PTA meeting were made by Mrs. Richard Seidel, Mrs. Bates Neifert and Mrs. Edwin W. Magee.

Big Growth

L W Arts And Crafts Expands Four Times

Enrollment at Lincoln-Way community high school has more than doubled over the past five years, but the enrollment in the Arts and Crafts Department has increased by some four times. In 1954 the enrollment in this department was only 20. Currently, there are 108 students working with arts and crafts.

This, no doubt, reflects the definite trend toward a more vocational type of education in the craft area. But in the arts, it reflects an appreciation for asthetic values. In addition to the regular school day, the arts and crafts department at Lincoln-Way is a popular adult education course. Kenneth Kinney, head of the Department, announced that this adult class has had a consistent enrollment of nearly 20.

Mr. Kinney further suggests, "Arts and Crafts should become a vital part of our educational system because of two factors. More people are actually retiring at 65. The possibility increases with each new labor contract of the four day week."

"The arts and crafts would fill real vocational gaps for these who have retired and for those on the four day week."

He is much encouraged by the enrollment increase each year. Last spring the Lincoln-Way department sponsored an in service training program or workshop for the local grade school teachers. The course was for 15 hours over a three day period.

Fifty grade school teachers enrolled for workshop. Binney and Smith, national art suppliers, sent an instructor for these sessions.

Most of the students are in the arts and crafts by their own choosing. With the exception of about 25 freshmen, the entire class is elective.

Arts and Crafts is developing into one of the popular classes. The first year work is something like this: four weeks in sketching; four weeks in design; four weeks in graphic arts areas; four weeks in simple crafts--jewelry and wire sculpture; plastics--bending and making a bracelet, simple pins by lamination; leather--tool design; and ceramics--pour a mold, animal figure by coil design; painting--show cardpaint for self expression.

Kinney explained that Art II was a semester of composition. This is the attempt by the student to communicate with the public--to convey his ideas, feelings, and an interpretation of subject matter.

Second semester is spent in oil painting, water color, and casein. The other advanced sections of art is concerned with silk screening, sculpturing, leather and jewelry work.

At the current rate of growth it won't be long until another faculty member will have to be added and more room supplied.

Kinney is quite sure that this is a healthy situation for our schools to be in. "Our leisure time will be invested in creative activity, if we have learned the rudiments of the arts."

The process by which a sunflower moves with the sun is called heliotropism. The explanation is that the plant's cells grow faster on the shaded side of the stem, causing the curvature.

News From Central School

By Marlene Moore and Nancy Titus

The girls of Central School who are in the seventh grade and eighth grade meet with Mr. Henneberry if they wish to help the school by being hall monitors. They keep order in the halls during the lunch period, making sure that no one runs through the halls. They also make sure that everyone is out of the building at 12:35 every day.

The Hall Monitors for the first half of the year are Pamela Walton, Shirley Parmer, Nancy Peterson, Diana Scott, Mary Krol, Shirley Schullien, Linda VerWey, Denise Koester, Sandra Wyman, Carol Pennington, Melody Benson, Laura Fongus, Mary Ellen Della, Shirley Scott, Claudia Zwayae, Susan Keuch, Beth Bunegar, Janice Gow Ursula Vickroy, Elaine Mattson, Bonnie Clark, Carol Bacon, Judy Tiwell, Andrea Manke and Roma Mogford.

Every year student council representatives are elected from each room. There are two representatives from each room from the 4th through the 8th grades, which meet in the school library. Each representative votes on who they think should be president, vice president, secretary and treasurer. The temporary officers are Jackie Daniels, president; Lorely Jochum vice president; and Jack Naughton, secretary, treasurer.

The student council is going to do a lot of things this year. Some of their plans are picnics, sponsor parties and organize a Pep club. Some of their jobs are working in the book store, selling tickets to basketball games, and working on the bulletin boards.

I'm sure they will have a lot of interesting plans for us this year.

PATROL BOYS

The patrol boys of Central school are protecting students at the Bert Fulton school, Harpers Hill, 171st street and various other areas on the school's property. There are two squads of patrol boys alternating every week.

ACHIEVEMENT NEWS

Achievement tests are coming up soon. The purpose of these tests is to see how high a child's ability is and what he has learned. There are two of these tests given each year.

The first achievement test is given at the beginning of the year. After a long summer children have forgotten many things they have learned the previous year. This test is given to show how much they have retained.

The second achievement test is given at the end of the year. This test is given to see how much a student has progressed since the last test was given at the beginning of the year.

These tests also contain questions or problems that have not been taught to the children. This test lets teachers know just what to expect from their students.

SOFTBALL NEWS

There are two softball teams at our school. One is the heavy-weight team and the other is the lightweight team. Mr. Kostecki coaches the light weights and Mr. Webster is the coach of the heavy weights.

The names of the players on the heavyweight team are: John Heinzen, Richard Wehr, Colin Sorenson, Richard Behrens, Bob Patrick, Jerry Redman, Frank Craft Ken Casey, Tom Rauch, Tom Watkins, James Czaio, and Ted Lauterbach.

The names of the players on the light weight team are: Tom Albright, Steve Jacobs, Richard Stamper, Terry Murphy, Richard Hayes, Jim Patton, John James, Dennis Schmierle.

The teams have tried to play four scheduled games, but have had two postponed due to the weather. The heavy weights lost to West Harvey 8 to 5, but beat Steger 23 to 21. The light weights lost both of their games. Harvey beat them by a score of 9 to 5. Steger downed them and the score was 9 to 8.

The world's first plastic was glass.

The average cost of drilling an oil well rose from $46,500 in 1955 to $50,200 in 1956 — the latest year for which figures are available. The petroleum industry says this is due to increased offshore activity, deeper drilling and higher prices for labor and material.

THIS, TOO, IS TEXAS EASTERN

Corrosion control helps keep our pipelines healthy

Pipelines are subject to corrosion. You are probably best acquainted with corrosion in the form of rust or the greenish accumulation on battery cables.

Texas Eastern is working actively and constantly to stop corrosion and keep its pipelines delivering natural gas without expensive interruptions to replace corrosion-pitted pipe sections.

Corrosion is an electrochemical action. It takes place when a natural electric current flows from a bare spot on the pipe into the earth—taking along with it minute particles of metal.

So, we electrically isolate the pipe from the surrounding soil. When we lay a pipeline, the mechanical monster shown above encases the pipe in a double wrapping of extra-heavy, extra-tough glass fiber and an outer wrap over a coating of tar or other pipeline enamels.

However, even a minor break in the insulation can be an open door for corrosive action. To guard against this, we set up our second line of defense: cathodic protection.

Current is sent into the pipe to retard the corrosive current flow from the metal. We have two ways of attaining this protection. The first is by using a "rectifier unit" (right) which converts home-style alternating current to direct current, sends it through conductor cables to buried ground beds of expendable materials, such as graphite or iron, and then through the soil to the pipeline.

The second method could be called the "dry cell" method. Galvanic anodes, consisting of magnesium or zinc, are buried near and connected to the pipeline. They act in the same manner as the zinc of a flashlight battery—and send a current through the earth to the steel pipe, which "stands in" for the cell's carbon.

It takes time—and money—to determine what special protection, if any, a given section of pipe needs. But the cost of corrosion control is actually an investment that pays off in the lengthened life of the pipeline and continuous service.

This is one of a series of monthly reports on the diversified activities of Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation.

Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do... (St. Luke 23:24.)

Do you ever find it hard in your heart to forgive anyone? Do you sometimes find it hard even to forgive yourself? On the cross, Christ Jesus asked God to forgive those who were crucifying Him—for the eternal God of love and mercy will forgive—and he hears even the smallest prayer.

the Great Books speak to Today...

Honor

If a man deserves and claims great things, and above all the great things, he will be concerned with one thing in particular. Desires are relative to external goods; and the greatest of these, we should say, is that which we render to the gods, and which the people of position most aim at, and which is the prize appointed for the noblest deeds—and this is honor. That is surely the greatest of external goods.—Aristotle, 4th century B.C.

Honor is not a reward of virtue, for which the virtuous work; but they receive honor from men by way of reward, as from those who have nothing greater to offer. But virtue's true reward is happiness itself, for which the virtuous work. Whereas, if they worked for honor, it would no longer be virtue, but ambition.—Thomas Aquinas, most important philosopher of the Middle Ages.

The manifestation of the value we set on one another is that which is commonly called honoring and dishonoring. To value a man at a high rate is to honor him; at a low rate is to dishonor him. But high or low, in this case, is to be understood by comparison to the rate that each man sets on himself.—Thomas Hobbes, English, 1588-1679.

This Week's Predictions By PEEPING PIGSKIN

I've saved this until last. Sandburg vs Lincoln-Way. Wow! You said it—I'm not certain that I know who will win this one.

Lashmet's Knights beat Rich, 20-13. Devine's Eagles lost to the Rocket, 12-0. So it looks much a pitched battle. Scores would indicate Lincoln-Way should take the contest. We will string along with them by a one point margin. This could be our wrong prediction for the week. We'll stick with it.

Bremen should be in for its second beating of the season when they take on Evergreen Park. Oak Lawn gave Bremen a beating, 38-0. Evergreen Park beat Bremen by 14-6.

Callan's kids should be better on Saturday and so it seems that they ought to lose to Evergreen by a two touchdown margin.

Don talk about my picks—I'm now three right and two wrong—that's still .600.
